

December 14, 2007

The Honorable Joseph Lieberman
Chair, Subcommittee on Private Sector and Consumer Solutions to Global Warming and Wildlife Protection
Environment and Public Works Committee
United States Senate
456 Dirksen Senate Office Building
Washington DC 20510

Dear Senator Lieberman:

On behalf of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS), I am writing to thank you for your leadership over the years and your recent efforts to develop and shepherd to the floor of the U.S. Senate a bill that addresses climate change.

As the AAAS Board noted in its December 2006 statement on climate change, "The time to control greenhouse gas emissions is now." America's Climate Security Act of 2007 provides an avenue to make timely and significant reductions in greenhouse gas emissions: a critical step to mitigate the effects of climate change.

AAAS, the world's largest general scientific society, stands ready to work with you to continue to address this important issue.

Sincerely,

Alan I. Leshner

December 14, 2007

The Honorable John Warner
Ranking Member, Subcommittee on Private Sector and Consumer Solutions to Global Warming and Wildlife Protection
Environment and Public Works Committee
United States Senate
456 Dirksen Senate Office Building
Washington DC 20510

Dear Senator Warner:

On behalf of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS), I am writing to thank you for your efforts to develop and shepherd to the floor of the U.S. Senate a bill that addresses climate change.

As the AAAS Board noted in its December 2006 statement on climate change, "The time to control greenhouse gas emissions is now." America's Climate Security Act of 2007 provides an avenue to make timely and significant reductions in greenhouse gas emissions: a critical step to mitigate the effects of climate change.

AAAS, the world's largest general scientific society, stands ready to work with you to continue to address this important issue.

Sincerely,

Alan I. Leshner

December 14, 2007

The Honorable Barbara Boxer
Chair, Environment and Public Works Committee
United States Senate
456 Dirksen Senate Office Building
Washington DC 20510

Dear Senator Boxer:

On behalf of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS), I am writing to thank you for your leadership to shepherd to the floor of the U.S. Senate a bill that addresses climate change.

As the AAAS Board noted in its December 2006 statement on climate change, "The time to control greenhouse gas emissions is now." America's Climate Security Act of 2007 provides an avenue to make timely and significant reductions in greenhouse gas emissions: a critical step to mitigate the effects of climate change.

AAAS, the world's largest general scientific society, stands ready to work with you to continue to address this important issue.

Sincerely,

Alan I. Leshner